Cisler Brands Peninsula As Expansion Area

MARQUETTE (AP) — Michigan's Upper Peninsula was described today by an international known industrialist as "one of the principal remaining, economically attractive expansion areas of the United States."

The industrialist was Walker L. Cisler, chairman of the Detroit Edison Co. His glowing picture of the Michigan north country was in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce at Northern Michigan University here.

Cisler told his fellow downstaters that the Upper Peninsula is "located in the heartland of the continent, in the midst of a tremendous supply of fresh water that can be used for industry, recreation, transportation and many other purposes."

Council Praised

Cisler induced the board of commerce to break its Great Lakes cruise for a luncheon gathering at Northern Michigan which is headed by Dr. Edgar L. Harden. Cisler and Harden are cochairman of the Council for Operation Action-UP.

The council, the aim of which is to improve the economy of the Upper Peninsula, was formed in March of 1963. It won support from businessmen on both sides of the Straits of Mackinac, and Cisler's speech said:

"This is one of the most interesting and promising endeavors with which I have had the privilege to be associated during a lifetime in the field of energy and power."

"It is most important that as many businessmen as possible in the Lower Peninsula become more familiar with the businessmen of the Upper Peninsula. I would also encourage you to bring your boards of directors up here to see the great resources that await economic development."

Period Of Progress

Cisler said that since 1950 the Upper Peninsula "has been passing through a transition from an economy based upon much manual labor to one adjusted to the technological developments and large scale operations that characterize our nation at large and the competition that we meet in other parts of the world."

But in reviewing a series of Upper Peninsula projects announced over the last year, Cisler declared:

"We are in a period of new development and progress in the Upper Peninsula and in Michigan as a whole. We are working together to accomplish important results."

"If you need resources, they are here. If you need earnest people to staff an enterprise, they are here. I recommend... that you study the materials and products available from the Upper Peninsula that can be used in the Lower Peninsula... We must help each other."

Backers Reject Amendments To Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern foes of the civil rights bill have virtually abandoned hope of winning adoption of any additional amendments of consequence.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces, said today that the bill's supporters evidently are not going to take any more amendments. This was confirmed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager. He said in a separate interview that there might be some technical changes but nothing of substance.

"I don't think we have much chance on any of our amendments," Russell said, but he added that the Southerners will continue to offer them to put the Senate on record, even if they get only 20 to 30 votes.

"This is bad legislation, and we are going to give those who are pressing his cup to our lips a chance to make a record," said Russell.

A Southern filibuster against the House-passed bill was shut off Wednesday when the Senate voted 71 to 29 to put its debate-limiting closure rule into effect. Under this each senator has only one hour to speak on the bill and all amendments.

The Senate acted on 16 amendments Thursday, rejecting all of those not acceptable to the leadership. Humphrey called it "a great day" that encouraged him to believe the bill might be passed even before the end of next week.

"I think we will come out of this pretty much with the package bill we now have," he said.

He was referring to the package of amendments drafted by leaders of both parties and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as a substitute for the House bill. It retains the House bill's basic provisions but puts more emphasis on voluntary compliance and state enforcement in states that have their own antidiscrimination laws.

Life In Russia Called Dismal

NEW YORK (AP) — Disenchanted and broke, Morris and Mollie Block have returned home after five years in the Soviet Union, where they had gone to find a better life.

The couple told of loneliness, poverty and lack of freedom in Odessa. They spoke to newsmen at Kennedy Airport. With them was their adopted daughter, Joanna, 13.

"We would never return to that hell," said Block, 43.

Asked when she became disillusioned with the Communist system, Mrs. Block, 52, said: "It took me three months. It took my husband two years."

"Socialism as expounded by Karl Marx has been completely prostituted in the Soviet Union," she said.

The couple said they left the Soviet Union because "of the lack of freedom, poverty and intimidation of the people."

Their combined income of about $184 a month wasn't enough, they said. Block was a machinist; his wife a laboratory assistant in a clinic.

Missing Girl, 3, Found Drowned In Septic Tank

FLINT (AP)—The body of a three-year-old Grand Blanc Township girl, object of a massive search, was found in a water-filled septic tank Thursday night, six hours after she was reported missing.

An autopsy showed Dana Krapohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Krapohl, had drowned.

Police said the child apparently had wandered from her home and fallen into the tank in the backyard of an unfinished house next door.

The tank was covered by a sheet of plywood, according to Genesee County sheriff's deputies. They theorized that the child stepped on the cover, flipping it up as she fell. It dropped back into place.

With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's Democratic Sens. Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara voted with the majority Thursday in the 51-35 defeat of a Civil Rights Bill amendment exempting owner-operated boarding houses with up to 10 rooms from the public accommodations portion of the bill.

Erhard Brings U.S. Report On Soviet Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany arrives in Washington today amid reports that the Soviet Union is about to sign a treaty with East Germany.

Diplomatic observers here expect it to take the form of a treaty of friendship, much like the pacts Moscow already has with a number of its satellites.

But whatever the nature of the treaty, the Soviet Union has been forewarned that the United States will hold it responsible for honoring previous East-West agreements on Berlin and Germany.

This will be the third meeting between President Johnson and Erhard since the two became the heads of their governments last fall. The East German-Soviet treaty is sure to dominate their talks.

Skeptics Wrong

Earlier this week, American sources were skeptical that Soviet premier Khrushchev would rock the boat in this period of East-West thaw by concluding a spectacular agreement with Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader and chief of state. Thursday night these sources conceded that reports from Moscow of the imminent signing of documents of "special significance" convinced them they were wrong.

Later authoritative sources said Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin had told Secretary of State Dean Rusk Wednesday that the Soviet Union intends to conclude a treaty with East Germany.

In reporting this the sources made the following statement:

"The conclusion or implementation of this treaty by the Soviet Union cannot in any case affect the legal obligations and responsibilities of the Soviet Union under agreements and arrangements between the three Western powers and the Soviet Union on the subject of Berlin and Germany."

Could Be Serious

"The Soviet Union remains responsible to carry out these obligations and responsibilities."

"The U.S. government considers that the government of the Federal Republic of Germany is the only German government freely and legitimately constituted and therefore entitled to speak for the German people in international affairs."

"The U.S. government does not recognize the East German regime nor the existence of a state in Eastern Germany. It remains the goal of U.S. policy to achieve the reunification of all Germans."

American specialists on German affairs said privately they see no reason to be alarmed by a treaty provided it does not go beyond the scope of similar pacts.

A peace treaty, giving the East Germans complete sovereignty including the right to control access routes to West Berlin, would be a most serious matter, officials here stressed. The United States, Britain and France have made it repeatedly clear since the start of the Berlin crisis in 1958, that the Allies would not tolerate any violation of their rights to be in Berlin and to have free access to the city by unilateral Soviet action.

East Germany And Russia Adopt Friendship Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev announced to a cheering audience in the Kremlin today that the Soviet Union and East Germany have agreed on a treaty of friendship, cooperation and mutual assistance.

The Kremlin, apparently to soften the impact of the latest treaty, had forewarned the governments of the United States, Britain and France.

The three Allied governments consulted on the development, agreed the new pact was not to be considered a peace treaty and therefore created no new critical situation.

The Soviet premier, his voice hoarse from speaking, said the treaty would be signed "in a few hours."

He said it reflected the desire of Socialist states to work together, and provided for noninterference in the affairs of one another. He spoke at a Soviet-German friendship meeting in the Kremlin.

"The unsettled German question can absolutely unexpectedly provoke a catastrophe. If we want to avoid it, sooner or later states will have to muster enough courage to appraise soberly the really existing situation," he said.

"Formalization of the actually existing situation that has already taken shape is the only point in question. This would not demand any sacrifices or losses from either side."

The Soviet Union, East Germany and the other Communist countries have struggled to will struggle for a German peace settlement and normalization of the situation in West Berlin on this basis, he added.

At one point he digressed to accuse Communist China of wanting a world war in order to spread communism but depending on the Soviet Union to win the war.

"When we have a chance, we will use all our influence so there will be no war," Khrushchev declared.

STATUS UNCHANGED

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union's treaty of cooperation with Communist East Germany was regarded in Western Big Three capitals today as leaving unchanged the existing state of affairs in all Germany.

Governments of the United States, Britain and France had consulted on the development. They agreed the pact was not to be considered a peace treaty and therefore created no new, critical situation.

Governor Aims To Be Nominee Of Republicans

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania today announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination "to offer our party a choice."

The 46-year-old governor and former congressman has been saying for almost a year that he would accept only a "sincere and honest draft."

In an 11th-hour speech arranged only Thursday night for the Republican State Convention of Maryland, Scranton declared the Republican party "is in danger if we let an exclusion-minded minority dominate our platform and choose our candidates."

"I have come here to offer our party a choice. I reject the echo we have thus far been handed, the echo of fear, or reaction, the echo from the never-never land that puts our nation backward to a lesser place in the world of free men," he said.

Family Goes Along

Scranton arranged to leave the capital at Harrisburg during the noon hour in a private plane for the trip to Baltimore. The Scranton family, with the exception of an older son, was to make the trip.

Later, Pennsylvania Rep. Thomas H. Worrlow and State Sen. John T. Van Sant reported receiving similar telegrams from Truax, who was not available for comment.

Jack Conmy, the governor's press secretary, said the governor had been mulling over his decision for several days.

Reminded that Scranton said previously he never felt "stirred" before about any presidential aspirations, Conmy was asked if the governor was "stirred" now.

"He's stirred," Conmy replied.

Mind Made Up

Conmy said Scranton made up his mind finally at 8:23 p.m. Thursday.

As to what impelled him to make that decision, Conmy said: "You'll have to get the specifics from him."

Asked who Scranton talked with after the decision was made, Conmy replied: "Name any big name and they would be it."

Asked specifically about Eisenhower, Conmy said he thought Scranton talked with the general but couldn't say for certain.

Those close to Scranton described him as deeply disturbed over the leadership trend within the GOP. The sources said he would tell the Maryland organization he will continue to fight for the nomination until the issue is settled.

The announcement by Scranton would put him in direct opposition to Sen. Barry Goldwater. The Arizona Republican presently holds a commanding lead in the battle for national convention delegates.

Rights Bill Backer

A key factor in Scranton's decision, sources said, was Goldwater's vote on Wednesday against ending the filibuster in the Senate on civil rights legislation. Scranton long has been an outspoken advocate of civil rights.

Goldwater voted against cloture on the filibuster, saying: "I have never voted for cloture on anything." He has said he hopes to be able to vote for the bill, but it would depend upon its final form; it would have to be amended.

In announcing his candidacy, Scranton would join a field of GOP contenders that includes Goldwater, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen.

Goldwater was not available immediately for comment. In New York a spokesman for Rockefeller said the governor will not change his position "one bit."

Advised By Eisenhower

Michigan Gov. George Romney, an outspoken opponent of many of Goldwater's views, has said he is not seeking the nomination, but will campaign for a

Santo Domingo Blast Kills 4 And Wounds 112

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Explosions rocked military ammunition dumps across the Ozama River from Santo Domingo through the night.

Officials said four persons were killed and 112 wounded. Flames set by the blasts still raged today, preventing firemen, troops and police from getting close to the dumps.

The explosions caused damage in the city.

Donald Reid Cabral of the government junta said three and possibly five dumps at the army's 27th of February barracks were destroyed. He said investigators were trying to determine the cause. There was an unofficial report the blasts were started by fire in a powder magazine.

Persons in the area heard several carbine shots just before the first explosion. It was believed these were fired by sentries giving the alarm for the fire.

The government put all hospitals and private clinics in the capital on an emergency footing.

U.S. Ambassador William Bennett visited the government house and it was understood he offered help in relief work.

Carriers Get $325

The average letter carrier would get a 5.6 per cent boost of $325 a year and the average government typist and file clerk would get a $310 a year raise.

The bill is expected to be one of the first called up in the Senate after it completes action on the civil rights bill, and no difficulties are foreseen in its passage.

A number of considerations prompted the House to pass the pay bill this time after defeating one, 222 to 184, last March.

The size of the proposed congressional raise was scaled down from $10,000 a year to $7,500 and it was made effective next January, instead of this year, making it easier for members to vote for it.

Backed By President

Of major importance in the view of the bill's backers, however, was the fact most state primary elections are now over. Last March the primaries were

Armed Officers Hunt 'Monster'

SISTER LAKES (AP) — The "monster" they're looking for around here appears to have as much savvy as size.

Sheriff's deputies armed with rifles searched a nearby woods Thursday night after three girls reported seeing the beast. The deputies found nothing.

The girls agreed with other witnesses who described the "monster" as being about nine feet tall and weighing some 500 pounds. They said it was black and hairy.

Sister Lakes, a little place in southwestern Michigan's Cass County, has been buzzing with talk the last few days of an unidentified beast on the loose.

"We think it's a bear," said Dave Lyons of the sheriff's staff. Then he hesitated. "Other people..."

Deputies weren't hampered by noisy, curious citizens during Thursday night's search. A hunt Wednesday night was cut short because some 200 motorists drove through the area — back and forth, back and forth—hoping to glimpse the "monster."

The Thursday search was touched off by Joyce Smith, 13, Patsy Clayton, 12, and Patsy's 13-year-old sister, Gail. They said the "monster" appeared in front of them as they walked along a road in Silver Lake Township.

Romania Drops Russian Names

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Bucharest streets with Russian names are getting new ones. The Russian language is no longer compulsory in Romanian schools. Soviet book stores and institutes are being closed or renamed.

There are hints of bitterness between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Romania's longtime Community leader, Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej.

Since Romania signed an agreement last week to trade more with the United States, there has been increasing speculation in the West that Romania may be moving away from the Communist bloc.

Cautious Western diplomats in Bucharest believe Romania won't break away from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries—or follow the Yugoslav model. But they say that disagreements are tenser than at any time since Romania became Communist in 1947.

Romania probably is the richest of all East European Communist countries in raw materials. She had Europe's largest oil production outside the Soviet Union, and gold, bauxite, extensive wood supplies, methane gas, water power, uranium ore and salt.

For years, most of these raw materials went to other Communist countries.

Berserk German Killer Gulps Fatal Poison

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—A crazed man who fatally speared two women teachers and seared 28 children and another teacher with a flame thrower died Thursday night after he was shot by police, then gulped down poison.

The worker, Walter Seifert, 40, a tubercular lathe operator, was shot in the pelvis as he tried to flee from the school. Before police could subdue him he swallowed the contents of a small bottle of insect killer.

Doctors who treated Seifert for tuberculosis had classed him as mentally unstable but harmless. Before he died he told police he was fed up with the way physicians had treated his illness and "wanted to take revenge."

Beer Sales At Club Rejected

A Delta County Sportsmen's Club's effort to add a little beer drinking to its indoor activities was rejected by the club's board of directors, President Ray Shaw told the membership at the clubhouse last night.

It was proposed that the club seek a license to sell beer. There was no opposition to the board's decision turning down the proposal.

Chairman Jack Sisson announced that the club's Wally Taber Show for 1965 would be held at Oliver Auditorium on Apr. 14.

The club was informed that the Escanaba Division, Mead Corp. had started construction Monday on works to control pollution of the Escanaba River. Fishermen told the club that the Escanaba was still cloudy in the Gwinn area.

Lawrence E. Haack of the U. S. Forest Service showed the Forest Service movie "Realm of the Wild" and talked on multiple use of forests for recreation and wood production.

Whitney Death Saddens Reunion

Rintoul Whitney, 74, U.S. Navy rear admiral, retired, died suddenly June 9 at his home in Long Beach, Calif. "Rint," as he was familiarly known to Escanabans and his classmates, was graduated from the Escanaba High School in 1909, and starred for three years in football and track, later attending Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., where he played on the football team, and later was football coach.

He was born in Escanaba July 11, 1890.

During World War I, Whitney, who was a member of the Escanaba Naval Reserve Unit, joined the U.S. Navy, and was a naval officer aboard the troop transport Leviathan, which carried many Escanabans men to overseas duty. He continued his Navy career after the war, and when World War II started he was on duty with the U.S. Navy at Manila.

Captured as a wounded prisoner with the limited American forces in the harbor, he participated in the infamous "Bataan Death March." When rescued, Whitney weighed only 98 pounds, compared to his normal weight of 220 pounds. His photograph, together with that of the other gaunt prisoners released, appeared in newspapers throughout the country.

On Speaking Program
After the war, Whitney appeared before the Lion's Club here, of which Gust Asp, Class of 1909, was president at the time, and related the harrowing details of his incarceration and the near-fatal march in the Philippines.

Whitney's death came on the eve of his departure for Escanaba, where he was to appear on the program of the 55th reunion of the Class of 1909 to be held July 1.

Austin Stromberg, Chicago, chairman of the reunion, was notified Wednesday by Mrs. Whitney of her husband's death. Stromberg, who had visited with Mr. and Mrs. Whitney several months ago in Long Beach, expressed to Mrs. Whitney the sympathy of members of E.H.S. 1909 Class, who had been looking forward to renewing friendships and re-living together their high school days at the reunion.

Services Thursday

Services for Rear Admiral Whitney were held June 11, and burial was at the Fort Rosecrans National Cemetery in San Diego.

Besides his wife, Stellamaris, a native of Washington, D.C., who served there on special duty during the war, Whitney leaving a son, a U.S. Navy Academy graduate, and one daughter, who resides in San Diego. His sister, Clara Whitney, also a member of the Class of 1909, who died many years ago.

Commenting on Whitney's death, Stromberg said, "Our Class of 1909 furnished four members of Escanaba's state championship team of 1907, of which team, 'Rint' was captain. Three of these members, Michael Jensen, end, Ray Hill halfback, and I, a guard, will participate in our reunion on July 1, and had been eagerly looking forward to seeing Whitney and discussing with him the old football days together."

Auditor General Team Consults On Vet Exemptions

A series of "clinics" is being held by a team from his office to assist township supervisors in the 15 counties of the Upper Peninsula with veterans tax exemption problems. Auditor General Billie S. Farnum announced. One meeting was held in St. Ignace and two others are scheduled as follows: June 22 and 23, State Office Building Conference Room, Escanaba—2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on June 22 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on June 23.

June 24 (and 25 if necessary) Portage Township Community Building, Houghton—10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Purpose of the "clinic" is to afford township supervisors and assessors an opportunity to bring in 1964 tax exemption affidavits for review. The Auditor General's team, consisting of R. S. D'Amelia, director, Administrative Division, Vern Gulick, supervisor, Veterans Tax Exemption Section and Carl Aldrich, auditor, will review affidavits with each assessor and advise him on whether they are correct or whether additional information or evidence of eligibility is necessary. By making corrections now, reimbursement of claims submitted by townships in the later part of the year will be expedited. Ineligible applicants can also be notified before tax bills are issued.

A question and answer session will also be held.

The clinic is being held in cooperation with the Michigan Townships Association. George Harvey, Escanaba city manager, and Ervin Siehrs, M. T. A. director, Menominee, will be co-chairmen of the Escanaba meetings.

Michigan Day At Cathedral Sunday, June 28

Washington Cathedral will hold its traditional State Day ceremonies Sunday, June 28, to mark Michigan State Day, according to Mrs. Archie H. Crowley of Birmingham, regional chairman of the National Cathedral Association in the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Sannes of Niagara, Wis., regional chairmen in the Diocese of Northern Michigan. On that day the flag of Michigan will be carried in the procession of choir and clergy and special prayers will be offered for the work and welfare of the state and its people.

The flag of Michigan was presented to the Cathedral by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Ford of Grosse Pointe in memory of their son, Alfred Bush Ford.

The Cathedral's 301-foot Gloria in Excelsis Tower was dedicated this spring. Flying from Britain especially for the occasion were members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the world's leading "change ringers." They took part in a ceremony in which the ropes of the 10-bell ring were passed to American youths, trained to carry on this old-world tradition.

The Cathedral moves ahead with its building program. Due to special gifts and legacies recently received, construction is proceeding under a $1,050,000 building contract. First to be built will be the clerestory and vaulting overhanging the three bays of the nave adjoining the Gloria in Excelsis Tower.

This construction initiates a new policy of continuing to build without further interruption. The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Cathedral, estimates that the Cathedral, begun 57 years ago and now two-thirds completed, will be finished within 20 years.

The National Cathedral Association, whose members help to support the Cathedral, is active in every state in the Union, with more than 10,000 members here and abroad.

Camporee To Open Today

Red Buck District of Boy Scouts opens its annual camporee late today at Camp Cooks on Federal Forest Highway 13 about 10 miles north of U. S. 2. The camp is on Stevens Lake.

The camporee opens officially at 10 a. m. Saturday with registration and start of forestry and camp craft projects. In the afternoon there will be several competitive events like an axe yard (to teach axe and knife safety), signaling, fire building.

A campfire program is planned Saturday evening with the public invited. The boys from the various units put on skits and the climax will be the Order of the Arrow Calling Out ceremony.

Awards will be presented to winning patrols on Sunday, church services will be held at camp and lunch will conclude the camporee.

More than two hundred scouts from the district, which includes the northern half of Menominee County and Delta and Schoolcraft Counties are expected for the outing.

Huron Mtn. RR Is All Steam

MACKINAC ISLAND has its horse-drawn carriages, but Thunder Bay (Big Bay) has its classic cars to add to the fun that starts with a steam train ride from Marquette. This Model T Ford pictured in front of the Thunder Bay Inn was made in 1914. The inn once had an apartment for the use of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford when they came to Big Bay to see the Ford Motor Co. sawmill operations there.

Farm Day At Fair Approved

The Upper Peninsula State Fair, at the suggestion of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee, is planning a Farm Day on Thursday, Governor's Day, at the Fair.

Four-H boys and girls will participate in events in the afternoon and the program will be under direction of Fair Manager Ray LaPorte and Delta County 4-H Agent Larry Bradford.

The Retail Division of the Chamber has Escanaba Days scheduled June 25, 26 and 27 and an old fashioned Sidewalk Day sales promotion on Wednesday, July 22. John Lasnoski is chairman of the Division. Chamber Manager Walter Lewke reported on a store modernization workshop which he attended at Marquette Wednesday and said an evening meeting of retailers and other businessmen is planned soon to view the film on store modernization.

Board members planning to attend the Governor's Conference on Economic Opportunity in Marquette June 17-18 include Gust Asp, Archie W. Freeman and Chamber Manager Lewke.

Ray McDonough chairman of the Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up Campaign, said that good progress was being made. McDonough asked cooperation of the public in a continuing program to help make Escanaba a clean and attractive community.

Escanaba Area Electric Power Off 6 Minutes

The area east of Ishpeming served by the Upper Peninsula Power Co., was without electric power for 6 minutes from 1:20 p.m. Thursday.

The outage affected all the Escanaba Area and was the first major power failure here since June, 1959, said William Van Effen, manager of the City of Escanaba's Electric Department.

Both Radio Stations WLST and WDRC were off the air.

Snake

Radio Station WDRC, Escanaba, went off the air for about 3 hours last evening beginning at 5:02 p.m., when a snake, seeking a warm place to hide, crawled into the circuit breaker wiring at the transmitter station on Danforth Road. The trouble, located after some difficulty, was corrected and WDRC returned to the air at about 8 p.m.

during the outage and the emergency electric generator at St. Francis Hospital was operated to supply its electric power, but there was no surgery underway and no crisis created.

William Montgomery, manager of the City of Escanaba's electric generating plant for the U.P. Power Co., which operates it and takes its excess generation, said that the outage

Sign Removal Halts In Alger

Circuit Judge George Baldwin has signed an injunction halting removal of roadside signs in Alger County by the State Highway Department.

Atty. Arthur Neiman of Hensley & Neiman, Escanaba, obtained the court's order for the injunction Thursday at Sault Ste. Marie at request of Donald A. Froberg and his wife, Rosemary, who operate the Christmas Motel on M-38, 5 miles west of Munising at Christmas.

Neiman said the court issued a blanket injunction prohibiting removal of signs in all Alger County because 16 other parties were joining the action opposing a Highway Department order that the signs must be removed by June 15 or they will be removed by Highway Department crews.

The order enjoins Highway Commissioner John Mackie and employees of the Highway Department from taking down or threatening to take down the signs, which were ordered out in letters received by their owners recently.

Neiman said that the order will stand until the Highway Department asks for a hearing to have it ended, which he expects to be requested at once.

We're Not Prepared

The efforts to control the outbreak of rabies in the Stephenson area in mid-Menominee County reveal that the county has not been well organized to protect itself against this ancient disease. And the same can be said for many other areas of the Upper Peninsula.

Public failure to control animal pets is one source of peril.

Another and a more difficult one to deal with is that of wild animals. They may be the bearers of this disease, which is fatal in humans 100 per cent if not treated in time.

Compounding the wild animal factor in the rabies problem is the ability of the brown bat to carry the rabies virus without dying of the disease. The brown bat is not the common bat of the Upper Peninsula, but it has been found in Michigan and a rabid brown bat was found in the Traverse City several years ago.

(Any bat bite is considered serious and treatment is recommended immediately. Bats caused several rabies cases in Michigan in 1963.)

The continuing potential spread of rabies by infected wildlife makes control of domesticated animals more imperative, since pets infected by wild animals are a common cause of rabies threat to humans.

In the Stephenson area outbreak the efforts at control revealed that there was no effective policing of stray dogs or cats; no dog warden system. Public health officers working to control the disease there have recommended that the Menominee County Board of Supervisors at its June 18 meeting institute an effective stray dog control program; that licensing be required for pet keeping and that licenses be issued only for animals immunized against rabies.

"This is considered a necessary program for the protection of the public and the livestock industry," said Dr. Leonard Vander of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's U.P. Livestock Disease Laboratory in Escanaba.

The advances of veterinary medical science and of public health services protect the public better than it has ever been protected from a dread disease like rabies in the past. But the Stephenson incident reveals that public policy cannot cope with rabies yet in a fully effective way.

At present it relies on the public spirit of doctors of veterinary medicine to cooperate with public health officers and they have done this well and the public health officers have served beyond the call of duty too. But any volunteer basis for a public health protection is precarious and very sensitive to expenses.

Two rabies immunization clinics for dogs were held in Menominee County and over 250 dogs were immunized. This is a good beginning. Obviously the immunization could be much more effective if the cost of vaccination could be reduced or eliminated. At present there are no funds for free vaccines.

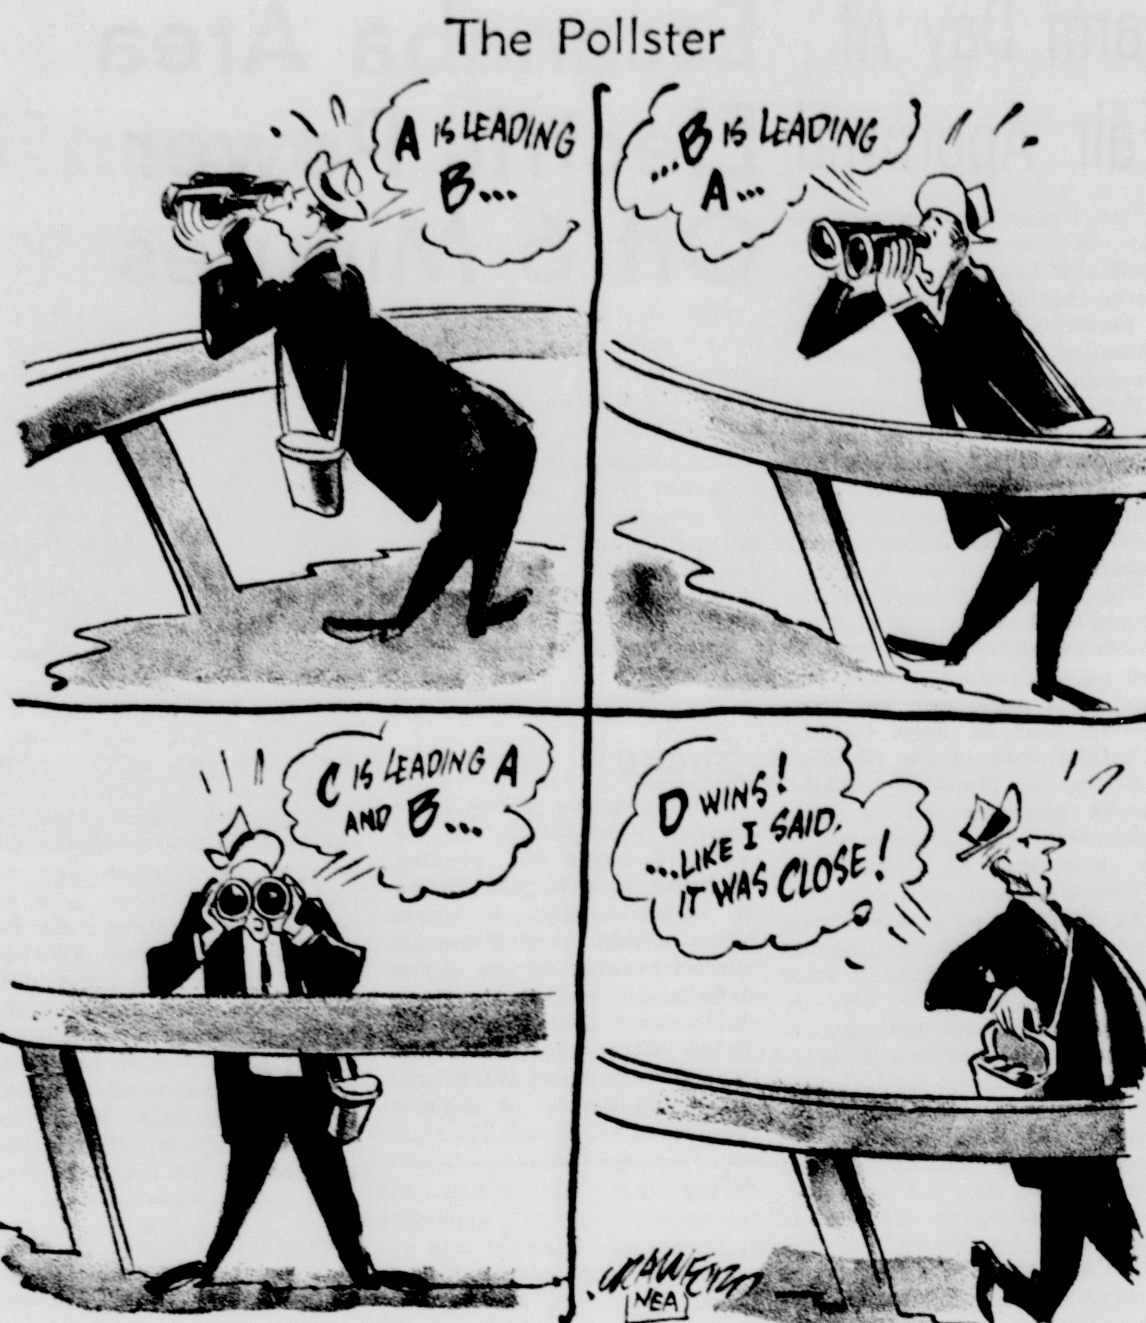

Government must determine whether a sufficient protection can be gained on a volunteer basis (the private clinics charged $2 per vaccination) or whether the immunization program needs subsidy.

The Stephenson incident showed the need for inter-agency cooperation to protect public health. The Conservation Department did some trapping in the rabies area, caught a raccoon and skunk. The skunk was rabid. Now health officials will ask a more extensive trapping program in the belief that the skunk population should be reduced drastically.

Persons tempted to protest the cost and bother of government control programs with strict rules of licensing of immunized cats and dogs and destruction of all strays are not reckoning the cost of rabies.

It is an ancient disease which always killed its victims until Louis Pasteur invented a vaccine 90 years ago. Vaccines are now available which are relatively safe if timely, but the injections (14 to 21)—and especially the last ones—are painful and they are costly ($100). The control work and laboratory work in rabies outbreaks is expensive too. It costs $50 to test the head of a suspected animal for rabies. And when the animal is a cow the air mail expense is considerable too.

It all adds up to strict controls being most economical and most humane.

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When he was first in politics as a Massachusetts congressman the late President John F. Kennedy was not particularly sharp at linking names and faces. In later years he became an expert.

Once in Boston a man who had met Kennedy the night before at a political dinner approached him and boomed: "Jack you remember Sam Shapiro?"

Kennedy smiled, shook the man's hand and said: "Sure. How is he?"

The fellow was stunned for a second, then blurted: "I'm Sam Shapiro!"

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Reiffers, of 636 N. 18th St., who were married in Luxemburg 50 years ago celebrated their anniversary yesterday.

Dr. Ervin J. Brenner, for some time health physician of the Schoolcraft-Alger health unit, and later associated with Dr. J. H. Fyvie at Manistique, has accepted a health doctor's post at Cornuba, Mich.

The Bethel Lutheran church on Stonington peninsula was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. A stroke of lightning was the cause of the blaze and the fire and the smoke could be distinctly seen by Escanaba residents across the bay. Lightning struck in several places in Escanaba earlier in the day but no serious damage resulted.

Twenty Years Ago

Mrs. Henry Gauthier, of Manistique, who has not heard news concerning her son Gerard for many months, received a message yesterday to the effect that he is in good health and a prisoner in Japan. Gerard was one of the Americans who participated in the grueling march following the fall of Bataan.

DONE FOR YOUTH

The parents of the graduating students of the Escanaba Area High School Class of 1964 wish to thank everyone who helped in any way to make the all-night party such a success. We wish to thank all the merchants for their generous donations of prizes.

We feel a special thanks should go to the Terrace Gardens for opening their doors to these young people, to C. E. Schuyler for opening the Delft Theater at two o'clock in the morning, the Escanaba County Club for the use of their clubhouse for the breakfast, and Piggly Wiggly for baking the rolls at three o'clock in the morning.

Without the cooperation of everyone concerned this party could never have been the success it was.

Copper Country Added To Wood Ticks' Range

HOUGHTON—One aspect of spring formerly absent from the Keweenaw Peninsula has now joined the robin and trillium as harbingers of this happy season, says Dr. Kenneth Kraft of Michigan Tech's Department of Biological Sciences. The newcomer is the pesky dog tick, or wood tick.

His scientific name is Dermacentor variabilis, reports Dr. Kraft, who, as an assistant professor of biology knows about such high-sounding names for low-life pests.

In appearance, the wood tick is a small, flat, oval, eight-legged, reddish-brown creature that measures a trim 3/16 of an inch after a sumptuous meal of blood from a rabbit, dog or other mammal.

He has long been a familiar part of the spring woods in the neighboring areas, and now he has invited himself over. There is nothing to do, rationalizes Dr. Kraft, but learn to live gracefully with him and his tribe.

To know him isn't to love him, adds Dr. Kraft, but at least Mr. Wood Tick ranks well below black flies, no-see-ums and mosquitoes as spoilers of summer fun. He has the welcome habit of disappearing after a few weeks of feeding and breeding activities in late May and early June. It's a shame the flies and mosquitoes aren't so considerate.

The average adult female dog tick lays a large number of eggs—about 4,700—because of the great uncertainties a young tick faces on the road to adulthood. Newly-hatched ticks, called seed ticks because of their resemblance to small seeds, have six legs and must find a warm-blooded host for their first meal to survive.

Once attached to a host, the young tick spends several days engorging blood, then drops off to digest his meal and use some of the food energy for growth. Like his arthropod relatives (insects, spiders, crustaceans), the tick must shed his old exoskeleton and stretch to a larger size the new cuticle formed beneath the old.

In the Keweenaw region this completes the tick's activities for the year. After his once-per-year meal he rests in the soil until the following spring, then repeats the process. By the third spring, the tick is an adult seeking his third host, and is ready to mate and reproduce.

It is the adult tick that is most likely to attach itself to a human, although normally he prefers dogs and other animals. Perhaps, points out Dr. Kraft, this is why a tick does a considerable amount of crawling around before settling down to feed. Consequently, if humans are alert to all strange crawling, most ticks can be detected and removed before they have inserted their mouthparts into the skin.

They particularly favor out of the way spots, such as behind the ears and in the hair. If a tick has begun to feed before detection, care should be exercised in removal. If pulled off roughly, the mouthpart may break off and remain under the skin to cause infection.

A feeding tick secretes a toxin that can be quite harmful, especially when he is attached to the back of the head. This toxin can cause paralysis, and even death, if the tick is not removed.

A feeding tick may be removed by grasping it firmly close to the skin with tweezers or the fingers, and pulling. Another method is to hold a hot object close, making him so uncomfortable that he releases his hold.

In the West, a different species of tick transmits the serious disease Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. Fortunately, the wood tick is not guilty of this, but is merely another biting creature that calls for some vigilance and a cool head.

In a few weeks he'll pass out of the scene, to reappear next spring along with the robins, trilliums and fresh greenery.

Ann Landers

Couple Swaps Socks In Sleep

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter signed "Not Mad," because my husband used to hit me while he was sleeping, too. I made excuses for Bud, just as "Not Mad" made excuses for her husband. I didn't want to face the truth, which was simply that Bud really wanted to hit me during the day but didn't have the nerve.

After innumerable black eyes and nose bleeds I decided I'd had enough. It was the night of our anniversary and he had forgotten. I didn't say a word but when a bouquet of flowers from our daughter and son-in-law arrived, Bud was embarrassed and apologetic.

He would have felt better had I lit into him, but I remained silent and pleasant. This he could not tolerate. I was certain that he would hit me that night "in his sleep."

Sure enough, about 2:00 a. m., I was awakened by a crack on the head. I sat bolt upright, made a dandy fist of my own and delivered an uppercut to his jaw. I have never seen such a surprised look on anyone's face in all my life. P. S. He has not hit me in his sleep since and it has been 5 years. — PEACE

IT'S WONDERFUL
Dear Wonderful: Peace is more than absence of war. I hope you have really found it.

Dear Ann Landers: Quite by accident I learned that my 20-year-old daughter is on very intimate terms with her steady boy friend, Jack.

Janice does not know that I am aware of this and there is no way to tell her without betraying a confidence. In the meantime I've been worried to death that they might get into trouble.

Last weekend I heard Janice talking to a girl friend. She referred to Jack as "that jerk." I was shocked. Later I asked Janice if she and Jack were having trouble. She replied, "Yes, all kinds. I'm trying to dump him and he is fighting it."

I'm so upset, Ann, I don't know what to do. The only thing that has kept me from going crazy was the thought that these two would eventually get married.

Should I have a talk with Janice? — DISTRAUGHT MOTHER

Dear Mother: And what would you talk about? Would you tell when you tear down a street her she'd better marry Jack, in your car while the even though she thinks he is a jerk?

If you can work a conversation around to the danger and disadvantages of sex outside of marriage — and keep it plenty general — all right. But please don't try to push her into marriage. She made one mistake. Don't encourage her to make another.

Dear Ann Landers: This gripe has been bugging me for ages.

The problem isn't mine but I work in a store and I deal with it every day. What do you think of people who return gifts and insist on getting the money? No amount of talking can persuade these cheapskates to take something else. I see nothing wrong if people want to exchange a gift in case of duplication, or because the color isn't appropriate, but to cash in a gift that a friend or relative selected with great care seems like an insult to the giver.

Do you agree, or do I have to fix on this one? — Gr—rrr

Dear Gr—rrr: I agree, and, if it's a fix then I have it, too. In my opinion it is poor manners to return a gift and insist on the cash. Some stores do not allow this practice and I'm with them.

The Doctor Says:

Calisthenics Keep Him Fit

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—I am now 80 years old and I still take two 20-minute periods of calisthenics every day. Back in 1910, I started brushing myself all over every day with a stiff brush. Is this harmful?

A—I assume that the stiff brush you have been using for 54 years is not a wire brush. I don't believe it could be very harmful or you would have found reason to give it up years ago. The calisthenics are an important aid to fitness and the brushing can stimulate the circulation of the skin if it is not overdone. Since rubbing with a Turkish towel will accomplish the same purpose and is less likely to injure the skin, you might want to consider switching.

Q—I am a housewife, 22 years old. About two years ago my toenails started to become thick and hard. What could cause this?

A—The toenails are much more likely to become thickened than the fingernails. In some persons this is an inherited trait. In others, wearing shoes that are too short may be the cause, especially if the nails are not kept trimmed. When outward growth of the nails is thus impeded the nails tend to become thick and to curve downward.

Q—What is chondrodystrophy?

A—Chondrodystrophy or achondroplasia means that the bones of the arms and legs are very short but the rest of the skeleton is of normal proportions. The victim is a type of dwarf as opposed to the midget who is abnormally small, but perfectly formed. Since chondrodystrophy is usually an inherited characteristic, there can be no corrective treatment. A child with this type of dwarfism is normal mentally, but is likely to suffer a lot of teasing from thoughtless playmates. He will, moreover, need realistic guidance in planning for his future as an adult.

Q—I am bothered with gouty arthritis. Can you give me a list of foods that will help to control this disease?

A—For you it is not so much a matter of eating certain foods as of avoiding such foods as meats, especially glandular cuts (kidney, liver, sweetbreads); meat extracts (bouillon cubes); fish, including shellfish, (caviar and shad roe are permitted); fowl and lentils. There is danger—but to a lesser degree—in asparagus, cauliflower, kidney beans, navy beans, lima beans, mushrooms, spinach, rye bread, graham crackers, whole wheat bread, shredded wheat and wheat flakes.

These items should be taken sparingly. All other foods can be taken as desired.

Rep. Bennett To Seek Election In New Eleventh

Rep. John B. Bennett, dean of the Michigan congressional delegation, announced today that he will be a candidate for reelection from the new 11th District in the Sept. 1 Republican primary.

"I will run on my record of 20 years of faithful and dedicated service to the people of Northern Michigan," Bennett said. "To the people of the enlarged district," he declared, "I pledge the same personal attention to their individual problems that I have always given to all my constituents, regardless of party affiliation."

"I will continue to work and vote for legislation that will serve the best interests of our area and to oppose all proposals and government programs, such as foreign aid and free trade, that are harmful to the depressed economy of our area."

Bennett is the senior Republican member of the important House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Should his party win control of Congress, he would become its chairman. The Committee has legislative jurisdiction over transportation, aeronautics, trade practices, finance, communications and power.

Bennett had a key role in writing the Hill-Burton Act, which helped build many Northern Michigan hospitals. He also was a major influence in passage of airport construction legislation and bills to improve local airline service.

He was a congressional investigator during the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee's investigation of Federal agencies a few years ago.

Bennett is also a ranking member of the House Administration Committee and represents Michigan on the powerful Committee on Committees which make all Republican committee assignments.

Bennett's work for the industrial development of his district has helped get a government loan to build the White Pine Copper Mine, now the largest industrial employer in the northern part of the State.

His efforts in behalf of the iron mining and lumber industries include sponsorship of legislation to establish import duties and quotas to protect the jobs of Michigan workers against foreign competition.

He was the first congressman to introduce legislation to eliminate tolls on the Mackinac Bridge and he believes its enactment would be a boon to the tourist industry of the State.

Since his first term in Congress, he has sought improvements in the Social Security system.

"I have always considered my duty to give personal attention to individual constituents and governmental bodies in my district as fully as important, if not paramount, to my broader duties with regard to new legislation," Bennett said.

"I am looking forward to extending my personal representation in Washington to all the people of the 22 counties in the District. I hope that the people in the area I have not previously represented will contact their friends in my present District to learn first hand of the sincere and devoted cooperation I have always given and the personal interest I have taken in the problems of the people I serve."

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Dr. Brunelle Is Again Moderator Of Presbyterians

ALMA — Cornerstone laying ceremonies for a new library, now 80 per cent complete, at Alma College, here, highlighted the 130th meeting of the Synod of Michigan, United Presbyterian Church, June 9-11.

The Synod elected the Rev. Dr. Wanzel Brunelle, pastor of the Allen Park Presbyterian Church, Allen Park, Mich., as its moderator for the second consecutive year, an unprecedented event. This is the highest office of the United Presbyterian Church in Michigan and has generally a term of one year. A graduate of Chicago Divinity School and McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago, Dr. Brunelle has served since his ordination in 1932 as university pastor at Ohio State University and pastorates in Buchanan and Mt. Pleasant in Michigan. He came to Allen Park in 1947.

Dr. Kenneth Neigh, general secretary of the United Presbyterian Board of National Missions, speaking on the problems of education, placed prime urgency upon doing something "now about educating those who are the 'under-achievers' in our schools, those from book-sterile homes where parents are happier when children abandon 'school days' for 'take-home pay days' especially in the Southeast."

"Let all the leaders," continued Dr. Neigh, "gather for a new Council in Jerusalem, and let us pool our resources, our teachers, our buildings, and our skills in the hope that we might disturb the hopeless with the ideal and grant them their right to share in the American dream."

In reporting United Presbyterian Board of National Missions take over of 10 hospitals in the Southern Appalachian area, Dr. Neigh commented "I believe that we need to do this."

The more than 300 delegates were unanimous in taking a firmer stand and making marked strides in the integration of churches, cutting across racial, cultural and color lines. Examples are becoming more numerous where interracial churches are being established and effectively accomplished.

Two From Delta Graduate Sunday At Michigan State

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University lists 3,460 candidates for degrees to be awarded at spring commencement exercises at 4 p.m. Sunday, in Spartan Stadium.

The total includes 107 doctoral candidates, 553 master's and 2,763 bachelor's candidates. The commencement speaker will be John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York City.

Graduating from the Escanaba area are: Georgi L. Coplan, 1111 11th Ave. S., Escanaba, BA in Fine Arts; David T. Kee, 1102 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, PhD, Zoology; Margaret N. Anderson, Carney, BA in Art Education; Judy E. Engelhardt, Hermansville, BA, Elementary Education; Charlene Graves, Ingalls, BS, Medical Tech, with high honors; Linda Dissinger, Manistiquie, BS, Home Economics, with honors; Jon G. Haindl, Cooks, BS, Agriculture Education.

Recognizing the tremendous impact that the "knowledge" explosion is having a renewed and urgent emphasis was placed on the establishing of a Center of Continuing Education of the clergymen and laymen of the Synod.

GLADSTONE

Gladstone Fund For Industry Is Organized

The Gladstone Industrial Development Corp. was made a permanent organization Thursday night by adoption of by-laws and election of a nine member board of directors.

Reuben Sjoquist, chairman of the temporary organization, presided at the meeting in Gladstone city hall and explained that "Since all cities in the United States are in competition to create new industry, a group such as ours is needed to negotiate and sponsor government loans available for such projects."

"The board of directors elected tonight will elect officers who will have authority to use money contributed by members as they see fit."

Temporary Treasurer Walter Olson reported that 327 persons have participated in the project so far and that the group has $24,294 on hand.

By-Laws Adopted
About 48 persons were present at the meeting, constituting the needed 10 per cent quorum and they unanimously voted to accept the by-laws and elect the suggested slate of directors.

New directors, who will elect officers, are: for a three year term, Frank Fleck, William Norris and Wynand Nieuwenkamp; for two year terms, Frank Stupak, Walter Olson and Michael LaPine; and for one year term, James T. Jones, N. R. Sjoquist and Charles Burton.

Clair Hoehn, counsel for the group, read and paraphrased the by-laws which provide: Membership is open to any individual, partnership, body politic or corporation located in the Gladstone Industrial Area which pays a membership fee of $10.

The annual membership meetings may be called by the president or upon the written request of 10 members.

Not less than 10 per cent of the members will constitute a quorum at a membership meeting and a majority of directors will make up a quorum at their meetings.

Members Ex Officio
Gladstone's mayor and president of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce will be directors ex-officio.

The directors will serve without compensation and may require any officer or agent to file a bond, the premium to be paid by the corporation.

The corporation will have full power to borrow money at the discretion of the directors and will have power to mortgage, pledge and hypothecate the assets and property of the corporation as security. They have right to establish special funds for use in connection with specified projects.

Membership fees will be used for operating expenses and other invested funds will be placed in a general fund.

If the corporation should dissolve, all of its assets over and above the amount necessary to pay its debts and liquidation expenses, will be turned over to the City of Gladstone for industrial purposes.

It was explained that the recent one-mill increase adopted by the Gladstone City Commission for industrial development has no connection with the corporation and that the monies will be used as the commission sees fit.

The Gladstone Industrial Development Corp. has been active in efforts to sell the Marble Arms plant as a going business concern. It has been offered for sale intact by ITT-Bell & Gossell, Inc., of Morton Grove, Ill., and the GIDC raised the fund of more than $24,000 as a community investment in a plan for purchase by two Hopkins, Minn., chemical firms. The Small Business Administration also was participating. That deal fell through and another is in negotiation.

City Accepts Bid On Sewers

Gladstone City Commissioners accepted the bid of Chapel & Amundson, contracting firm from Green Bay, to construct the storm sewers at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon at the City Hall.

Of the eight bids submitted, Chapel & Amundson's bid of $312,571.50 was low. Other bids ranged up to $453,548.65. According to City Manager H. J. Hendrickson, all the bids were good and were well below the engineers estimates.

The commissioners and city manager met with Austin J. Lipsett, field engineer for the Housing and Home Financing Agency, K. W. Anderson, of Williams and Works Co. and Klaas Knol, resident engineer for Williams and Works, Monday evening to discuss the project, which they hope will get under way within the next two weeks.

School Election Totals Checked

The official canvass board for the school election held Monday canvassed the ballots Thursday afternoon at the High School and announced the official count showed 346 votes for Grant Hess, 268 for Atty. Clair Hoehn and 193 for Mrs. Clifford D'Arcy.

In making their count the board felt the public should be informed as to the proper form of marking a ballot. Crosses in the squares are required and a check mark is not acceptable. In the case of a write-in candidate, the proper name should be inserted on the ballot.

Serving on the canvassing board were Fred Schram, chairman; Alcott Erickson, Martin Cassell and Millet Caldwell.

Art Course Set Up For 3 Weeks

A summer art course, under the direction of Donald Saykily will begin Monday at 9 a.m. in the art room of the new school, it is announced by Wallace Cameron, Supt. of Public Schools.

The course will continue for three weeks with three sessions each week. The actual time of the classes will be established by the class.

A fee of $2 per student will be charged to defray the cost of materials and they have room for a few more students in the class.

The biology enrichment course has been completed and the students report a very fine series of lessons.

The summer band program, under the direction of Paul Cowen, is progressing. The Junior Band meets Thursday afternoons and the senior band meets Thursday evenings. Sectional instruction and individual lessons are given during the day.

Cameron reports the school building summer work program is well under way and the contractors are completing closing off the school area where the old school adjoined the Junior High building. Work on the parking area and lawns on 11th street will begin next week, and the bleachers at Marble Field are being repaired.

Outdoor Editor Of Grand Rapids Press Retires

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Retiring at 65 as outdoor editor for The Grand Rapids Press and Booth Newspapers Inc., Jim McKenna was saluted here Wednesday night at a dinner reception by some 200 fellow workers and friends.

He was presented a portable typewriter symbolic of his plans to embark on a free lance outdoor writing career.

He is succeeded as outdoor editor by Ray Voss, also a veteran of the field.

McKenna spent 50 years as a newspaperman. Starting at age 14 as a reporter for a Hartford City, Ind., publication, he later served papers at Muncie, Evansville and Terre Haute, Ind., and Danville, Ill. In 1932 he joined the Detroit News and later became editor of The Daily Leader in Mount Clemens.

He came to Grand Rapids as news editor of the former Herald in 1936 and transferred the next year to the Press as assistant city editor. McKenna became outdoor editor in 1944.

MANISTIQUE

Hair Wreath Given To History Museum

Acquisitions of the Post House historical museum at Manistique include a memorial hair wreath, braided and enclosed in a glass covered, deep frame.

"Every age has its idiosyncracies, which to another generation seem strange. During Victorian days, hairwork was a great fad, in the early era, and bracelets, watch chains, lockets, baskets, dishes and finally memorial wreaths were constructed of human hair," notes the curator, Mrs. J. J. Herbert, who presented the wreath.

At Springfield, in the Lincoln museum, is a larger framed wreath. During the 18th century, human hair was made into rugs, medallions, and large framed wreaths, intricately woven, and crocheted, sometimes by professionals and presented to members of the family of a deceased person.

Gifts of one's own hair were always appropriate. Queen Victoria always wore a bracelet which contained a lock of hair from the head of Albert, prince consort. During the 1870's and 1880's, the bouquets of floral form "hair wreaths" were very fashionable.

The memorial wreath will be in the front hall of the museum permanently. The museum is housed in a small home which has been furnished in decor of the 1800's and early 1900's with each room furnished. Numerous historical works also are kept there, including writings on the county and Michigan.

Romney Signs 3 Major Bills

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney has signed into law three major bills resulting from the 1964 legislative session — congressional reapportionment, the new election date schedule and the measure creating a new court of appeals.

The governor also signed a bill providing statutory authority for the grass roots election by precinct delegates of both political parties of four congressional districts officers and 15 for each of the congressional County.

The congressional redistricting plan divides Michigan into 19 districts in compliance with a federal court order which instructed the legislature to create near-equal districts based on population or face the possibility of electing all 19 congressmen at large this fall.

Commented Romney on signing the bill: "This caps long hours on behalf of the legislators of both parties in carrying out the mandate of the court, with the resulting plan being a fair one, and from the equal population standpoint, unequal by any other state with more than one district."

The election bill moves the state - wide primary from Aug. 4 to Sept. 1 and shifts the date for filing nominating petitions from Aug. 4 to Sept. 1.

The court bill provides for the election for the first time of a new nine - judge court of appeals with three judges to be elected from the three judicial districts created by the measure.

The first election will be in November. The judges will receive an annual salary of $23,000.

"I am pleased to sign this court of appeals bill because this is an essential part in the implementation of the constitution," Romney commented. "This court will play a key role in our heavily burdened judicial system."

All the bills but the congressional redistricting measure will have immediate effect.

Seward, Alaska, Holds Delayed Party June 27

SEWARD, Alaska (AP)—This city will celebrate its all-America status June 27—three months after its waterfront was devastated by the Good Friday earthquake and resulting tidal waves.

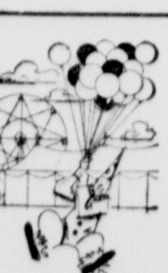

Lack of money and space will make the celebration more subdued than originally planned, James Harrison, city manager said Wednesday when he announced the date. The festivities had been planned originally for April 4-5.

The announcement that Seward had been one of 11 cities chosen for all-America city honors was made March 26, the day before the big quake.

Driver License Picture Project May Take Year

LANSING (AP) — Although Michigan law requires motorists to have their pictures on driver's licenses it will be several months—perhaps even a year—before the program goes into effect, advises Secretary of State James Hare.

"We have to decide on the kind of (photo) equipment that will do the job best, the type of process to use, and see that equipment is installed and persons are trained to use it in nearly 250 stations throughout the state," he explained. Lawmakers this year appropriated $500,000 to start the project.

Radio Coming To Manistique

Application for a license to operate a commercial radio station in Manistique has been made by two Detroit-area men. The request was filed with the Federal Communications Commission, and seeks a permit for a "Class IV AM station operating on 1490 kilocycles, 1,000 watts during daylight hours and 250 watts at night."

The request says the studio and transmitter would both be located in town and lists an antenna height of 159 feet.

David M. Kelley and Edmund Selleck of Allen Park, Mich., doing business as the Manistique Broadcasting Co., submitted the application.

No indication was made as to when the station would start operating, if approval is granted, but it's expected to be on the air by fall. Once FCC permission is given, it would be necessary to bring in transmitter equipment and erect the proposed antenna.

Presently the nearest radio stations to Manistique are two in Escanaba and one in Munising.

Store Workshop Held At NMU

Five Manistique persons were among those at the well-attended store modernization workshop held at Northern Michigan university in Marquette Wednesday. Store fronts, store equipment and lighting were covered in the sessions. Those going included Fred H. Hahne, Leonard Males, Neil Rese, Jack Phillips and James Schubring. The workshop was sponsored by Group 1 of the Michigan Bankers Assn.

Briefly Told

State Police ticketed Milton L. House, Moorehead, Min., John F. Bayard, Duluth, and James G. Darby, Minneapolis for speeding; Thomas P. Cromell, Munising, allowing unlicensed minor to drive, and Robert E. Brock, Waukegan, no operator license.

Rodney Carney, Rte. 1, has reported a boat tied at a fishing site on the Manistique River has been damaged. State Police are investigating.

Elkettes will hold their final meeting until Fall Tuesday, June 16 at 8 p.m. in the Elks Temple.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Fred Ayris, Gulliver; Vivian Joslin, Rte. 1; Beatrice Hanson, Newberry; and Harry Yale, Gould City. Discharged were Susan Matchinski and baby, Vernor Nelson, George Dellis, Anne Marie Sample, Sandra Knuth and baby, Marie Halvorsen and baby, Harry Mihalie, and Barbara McAlpine and baby.

Scout Troop 400 Plans Camp-Opt

Boy Scout Troop 400, with Ken Gillingham as Scoutmaster will hold a camporee today, Saturday and Sunday at old Camp Cooks to prepare for the Red Buck encampment. Cooking will be by patrols. Church services, both Protestant and Catholic will be held at the site. Saturday evening the Order of Arrow tap out ceremony will be held near Jug Lake.

A bow and arrow demonstration Saturday from 1 to 2, and competitive events from 2 to 5 p.m., are scheduled. The latter include axe and rope work, sawing, leaf and twig identification, compass and measuring, an obstacle course race, fire and string burning, log chopping and a scavenger hunt.

Awards will be presented for the best patrols. The troop is sponsored by the Sportsmen's club.

Softball?

The question, "Will softball be continued?" will be resolved at a meeting at 7 p.m., today in the Youth Center. Finance and participation problems have plagued the group, Richard Bonifas recreation director notes. Anyone who wishes to see the program continue for high school boys and adults is asked to be at the meeting.

Accountant Hired

U.P. Pulpwood Changes Needed To Hike Profit

Present methods of cutting, handling and shipping pulpwood in the Upper Peninsula must be changed if the region is to enjoy an expanding pulpwood market, according to two Soo Line officials.

This point was emphasized recently in separate reports before different audiences by President L. H. Murray and General Traffic Manager K. J. Sherwood.

Murray told the transportation committee of Operation Action-U.P. that forest products, primarily pulpwood, offer the greatest potential for restoring the area's economic vitality "when improvements are made in efficiency in all phases of production, handling and transportation."

Faster and cheaper methods of getting pulpwood to market will be studied in June by a task force of materials and handling experts, including Soo personnel, he told the committee.

Sherwood, speaking before an Upper Peninsula conference on pulpwood at Iron Mountain, cited carload figures which show that present pulpwood handling methods lead to poor car distribution and utilization and costly train service.

Four conditions must be met, he said, if the Soo is to reduce its cost of operation and pass along the savings in possible rate reductions:

1. Pulpwood movements must be consistent.
2. Each car must contain the heaviest feasible load.
3. Loading points must be minimized and mechanized.
4. Car utilization must be increased.

Soo Line Hearing To Resume June 15

Hearings by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Soo Line's proposal to establish a shortcut between its two east-west routes in the Upper Peninsula have been set for June 15 in Marquette.

In February the Soo and the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad worked out an agreement which would give the Soo operating rights over the LS&I's trackage between Marquette and Eben Junction. They now seek ICC approval in a petition opposed by the Chicago & North Western Railway and other U. P. roads.

creased by faster loading and unloading.

Nearly 7,900 carloads of pulpwood were moved from the U.P. by the Soo in 1962, Sherwood said. Pulpwood is loaded at 120 of the 141 stations, sidings and spurs served by the Soo in the region.

A total of 812 carloads were shipped from 85 loading points, less than 10 carloads per point for the entire year. In contrast, he pointed out, 22 stations loaded on an average of about 225 carloads per station.

Cost studies indicate that "we are losing money at points where only one to 10 or 12 cars per year are being loaded," he said.

He pointed out that nearly three-fourths of the pulpwood originating on the Soo is turned over to connecting lines, which share in the revenues. For its share, he said, the Soo maintains 80 to 100 cars per day in the U.P.

Other forest products such as poles and railroad ties should figure in the U.P.'s economic future, Murray said.

He told the committee that the Soo had ordered some 188,000 railroad ties from Upper Michigan producers. Interest has been shown in establishing a tie-producing firm in the U.P. which would operate on a year-round basis and would compete with tie producers in southern states, he said.

Conference To Hear Area Aids For Industry

H. O. Jensen

H. O. Jensen, vice president-engineering, Edison Sault Electric Co. will take part in the Governor's Economic Conference in Marquette, June 17-18. He will brief the service group on the progress and plans of the electric power industry in the eastern section of the Upper Peninsula. His outline will cover the recent acquisition of the Carbide hydro-electric power plant by Edison Sault and its potential effect for the expansion and location of business and industry in the power company's service area.

Jensen will also review the interconnection between Consumers Power Co. in lower Michigan and Edison Sault Electric Co. at the Straits of Mackinac. This bridging of the Straits of Mackinac by submarine cable has provided additional reserve capacity of electric power.

"With the hydro-electric power plant and the reserve provided by the interconnect at the Straits", stated Jensen, "Edison Sault is in an excellent position to provide electric power for industrial expansion."

Manistique's Barnes Hotel Is Newly Redecorated

IT PAYS TO SHOP LOCAL BUSINESSES... YOU SAVE TIME, ENERGY AND MONEY!

Operated By Hough Family For 23 Years

Since 1942 the Barnes Hotel in Manistique has been operated by the Hough family and it's been so successful that some salesmen have been staying there ever since they began.

The 3-story brick building was built 68 years ago by Rod Barnes, for whom it was named. The Arthur C. Houghs bought it from Deborah Cockram of Minneapolis and have operated it continuously since, with their son, Arthur William now in charge.

The hotel has 20 rooms, including some family size units, with or without showers and baths. Nightly, weekly and monthly rates are offered.

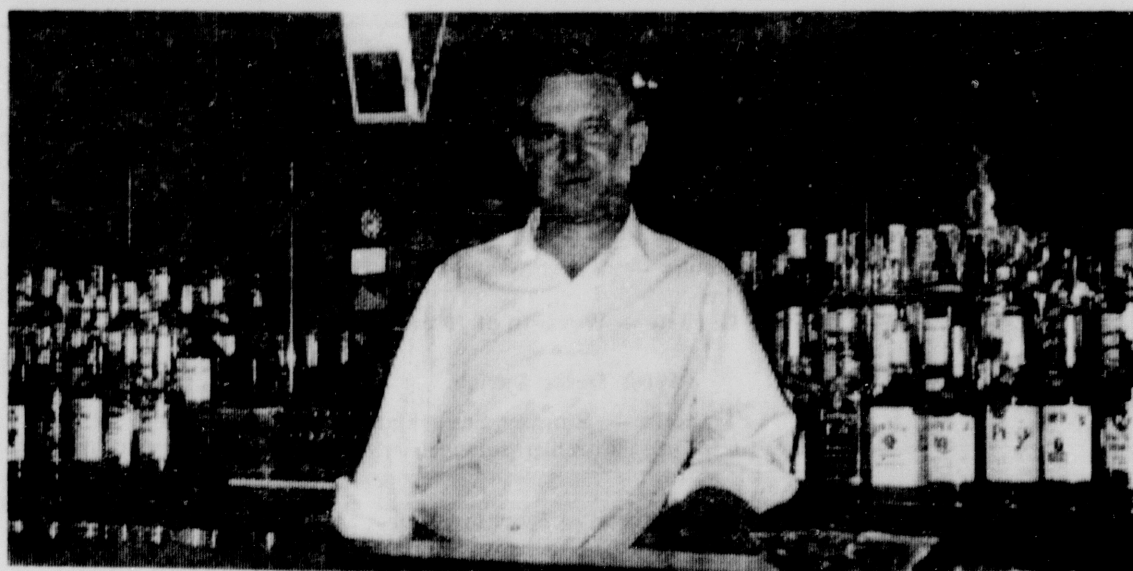

Parking facilities are provided, and the hotel has a cocktail lounge, grill to serve hamburgers and a large lobby. The lobby has just been redecorated and last year the cocktail lounge was remodeled.

Arthur C. Hough, former owner, worked 26 years for Brown Lumber and later, Michigan Dimension Co. before taking over the hotel. The couple has three sons, Lauritz, who formerly helped them operate the hotel, George and Bill and a daughter, Mrs. Ken (Judy) Billings, all in Manistique.

Mrs. Hough, Sr. is a daughter of the late Joseph Martin of Cooks, who operated the Cooks Hotel. She recalls when her father drove people from the hotel to Manistique in horse and buggy rigs, over sand roads. Cooks boasted two dry goods stores in its business community then. The trip to Manistique was a day's journey each way. The railroad brought business to the hotel, just as it once did for Manistique.

The Barnes Hotel location is convenient, downtown, and in the same block as the bus station.

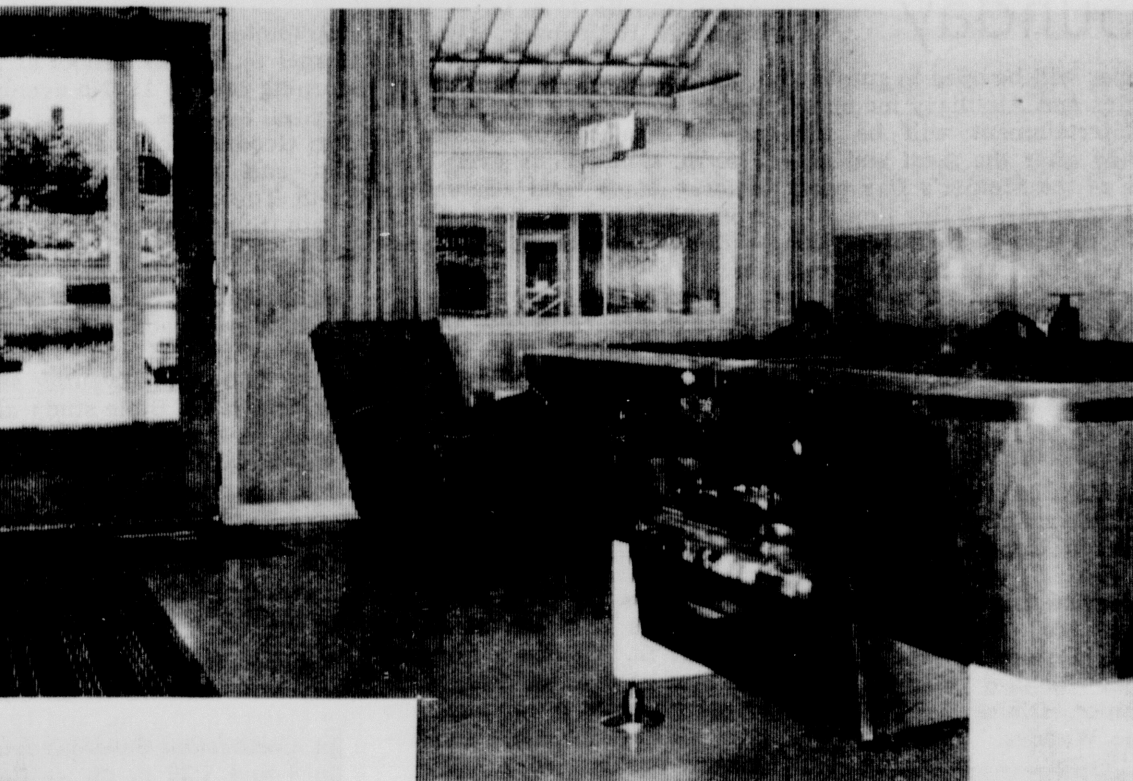

The staff includes, with the family members, George Dorman, bartender.

MRS. ARTHUR C. Hough, mother of the owner of the Barnes Hotel is at the registration desk.

THE LARGE Barnes Hotel lobby with pool table is shown. The lobby has been redecorated and is handsomely finished with birch paneling, pale green walls, white acoustical ceiling, and recessed lighting.

M-U Business Experts Give Writing Advice

ANN ARBOR—Three common pitfalls in business writing have been pointed out by a University of Michigan authority on written communication.

Beware of 1) losing track of your reader, 2) letting words trip up the sense of your message, and 3) underestimating the taste level of your audience, warns Mrs. Mary C. Bromage, assistant professor of written communication in the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration.

The secret of keeping your reader's attention, says Mrs. Bromage, is organization.

Words should be used to communicate instead of to confuse, she says. "Henry James is for the easy chair, not the swivel chair."

Mrs. Bromage points out that meeting the present level of taste merely involves keeping up with the times. "Grandparental phraseology inherited from office files does not fit into today's business."

Mrs. Bromage's comments on how to write the successful business letter appear in the current issue of Nation's Business.

Her book, "Writing for Business," was published earlier this year. Mrs. Bromage also serves as a communications consultant to several corporations.

Personals

Mrs. Ben Leonard, the former Kathryn Wicking of Escanaba, has arrived from Hayward, Calif., to visit with Miss Hannah Anderson, a resident of Delta Nursing Home at present, and with other friends in the area. She arrived in Chicago by jet and was met by Miss Anderson's niece, Miss Kathryn Anderson of Wausau, Wis., who accompanied her here. They are at the John R. Anderson home, 1415 5th Ave. S. They will be joined here Saturday by the William E. Andersons of Wausau, who will visit at the Anderson home and with relatives in Bark River.

William Bolm has arrived from Fort Wayne, Ind., to spend a few days with his mother, Mrs. Harold Bolm, 942 N. 18th St. Bill, who was prominent in athletics at Escanaba Area High School, is a graduate of Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, and has been employed in Fort Wayne the past year. He is planning a vacation tour of Europe in August.

Esther Westerlund, program coordinator; personal development, Nancy Pearson; civic participation, Marion Oliver; world affairs, Lucille Ulrich; finance, Evelyn Sabuco; memberships, Caroline Nystrom; legislation, Nancy Petry; public relations, Alice Kvam; nominating, Elsie Anderson; calling committee, Lottie Frechette and Flora Clark, co-chairmen.

Lucille Ulrich, past State World Affairs chairman, who also served on the State Board the past three years, was chosen as chairman of the State Cancer Fund committee at the state convention held in Detroit.

Reports were given by the delegates, Jean Kasun, Nancy Pearson and Caroline Nystrom, who attended the convention.

The Club voted to pay the tuition for a woman for another year at the Bay de Noc College and will also assist in the Carnegie Public Library services.

Estelle Erickson was welcomed as a new member.

The next meeting will be held June 23rd at the Sherman Hotel.

MISS CELIA Aalto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osma Aalto of Rock, was graduated from Northern Michigan University June 7 with a major in Physical Education. She will teach at Wilson Junior High School in Manitowoc, Wis. She was a member of the Gamma Phi Alpha sorority.

Nurses Attend State Meeting At Mackinac Island

Delta District Practical Nurse Association was represented at the three-day state convention held this week at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

Attending from this area were Gladys Birkenmeier, Ethel Gorzinski, Delia Peterson, Edith Powers, Dorothy Spade and Leah Williams.

The Hon. William G. Millikan spoke on legislative processes in connection with the Nurse Practice Act, which members of the Nurses' organization have been studying the past year.

Another speaker was Dr. George H. Agate, divisional director of the Michigan Department of Health, whose topic was "Immunization and Its Importance in the Health of the Individual and the Community."

Club Group At Nursing Home

A group of members of the gerontology committee of the Escanaba Woman's Club visited Delta Nursing Home Tuesday afternoon and held an enjoyable party for those whose birthdays occur in June. Gifts were presented the "June birthday" residents and a party lunch was served. The visit is part of a much appreciated and wide-spread program undertaken by the committee in the interests of senior citizens.

Bill Lanco, president of the Escanaba Softball Association, today reminded players and managers of several deadlines. The deadline for sale of season tickets is June 18th and for payment of entry fees June 16. With a steady stream of invitational, city, regional and state tournaments, this will be one of the busiest softball seasons here in many years.

Among the new faces in the Green Bay Packer camp this fall will be Jack Mauro, seeking a spot as an offensive guard. Mauro is 23 years old, stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 250 pounds. The Saginaw native was the Packers' 13th pick in the draft. He's the only Michigan man on the list of first year men trying out for the Packer squad.

For the first time this year, two players were named Most Improved by the football coaching staff at Michigan Tech at the completion of spring practice. Coach Bill Lucier announced that Tom Csmarich of Ontonagon and Dennis Sundberg of Calumet shared the honor. Csmarich is a halfback, Sundberg a tackle.

In his last mound start for Doran's in the Soo Intercity softball league, Reno Pettenuzzo reached new heights. He fired a two-bitter, fanned 19 batters and blasted two home runs in a 14-0 victory over the Kinceloe Flyers.

Earl Dumais, dedicated young man who is doing such a fine job with youthful baseball players in the community, points out a change in the name of that program. Formerly called the Farm League, the name has been changed to Minor League. The teams and their rosters appear elsewhere on today's sports page.

Johnny Joins Catcher Club

By The Associated Press

There have been 6,119 strikeouts in the major leagues this year. Pitchers have been happy about 6,115 of them.

The other four lost ball games.

It happened again Thursday night in this Year of the Dropped Third Strike as Cincinnati catcher Johnny Edwards joined a club that is quickly losing its exclusiveness.

Before Edwards could take his red face and damaged pride back to the privacy of the Reds' dugout, the Houston Colts had rushed across five runs in the fifth inning and nailed down a 5-3 victory.

John Tsitouris, the Reds' starter, held a 2-0 lead going into the fifth and retired the first two men without any difficulty. Al Spangler then drew a walk and Nellie Fox followed with a single.

Bearing down, Tsitouris, appeared out of trouble when he fired a third strike by Mike White, but the ball flashed past Edwards and White raced for first, leading the bases.

Tsitouris, apparently unsettled, forced in the Colts' first run by walking Dave Roberts and then Bob Aspromonte applied the crusher by smacking a grand-slam homer.

That sent Tsitouris to the showers and Edwards into the Dropped Third Strike Club.

The club has strict rules—the dropped strike must have directly led to a defeat. The other members in good standing are Joe Torre of Milwaukee, Philadelphia's Gus Triandos and Ike Brumley of Washington.

The Philadelphia Phillies, meanwhile, moved back into first place in the National League on their day off when Milwaukee defeated San Francisco 6-5 and dropped the Giants into second place, seven percentage points behind.

Elsewhere, Don Drysdale posted his third shutout with a four-hitter in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 5-0 victory over St. Louis and Larry Jackson won his eighth game as the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Mets 6-3.

Aspromonte's homer was his third in three games. He has hit only one other. The Colts' third baseman also collected two singles and in the last three games has collected seven hits in 12 at-bats.

Claude Raymond got the victory in relief, extending his scoreless innings streak to 22 before the Reds scored an unearned run in the eighth on Frank Robinson's double and two errors by Fox.

The Braves-Giants game seemed to revolve around San Francisco outfielder Harvey Kuenn. Kuenn lost Eddie Mathews' drive in the sun in the eighth inning and it went for a three-run double. Then Kuenn homered in the bottom of the eighth.

He came up again in the ninth after the Giants had scored three runs and pulled within a run, but with a chance to win it he grounded into a doubleplay.

Felipe Alou's homer in the ninth against his former San Francisco teammates turned out to be the winning run as Warren Spahn brought his record to 5-4.

Drysdale, bringing his record to 8-5, was in serious trouble only in the fourth when the Cardinals loaded the bases with one out. But the Dodger right-hander got Charley James on a shallow fly and got Tim Lincecum to ground out.

The Cubs pulled out front to stay against the Mets in the top of the first when Jim Stewart singled and Ron Santo homered. Santo later drove in the decisive run with a single in the seventh after Lou Brock and Billy Williams singled.

Jackson, 8-4, gave up nine hits but brought his lifetime record against the Mets to 8-0.

McBride Hits Jackpot As Relief Specialist

By The Associated Press

After laboring in vain for nearly two months, Ken McBride has gone on relief and hit the jackpot.

McBride, a 28-year-old right-hander, halted his 10-game losing streak as the Los Angeles Angels nipped Cleveland 5-4 in 12 innings Thursday night.

The one-time ace of the Angels' pitching staff beat Washington 4-0 on opening day, April 13, then lost 10 consecutive games in 12 more starts. His latest start—and defeat—was last Sunday.

Then, against the Indians Wednesday night, Manager Bill Rigney brought McBride in from the bullpen for his first relief appearance since April 19, 1962. He didn't give up a hit in 1-2-3 innings.

He relieved again Thursday night, coming on this time in a 4-4 game with two on and none out in the ninth inning. He got Vic Davallo on a grounder and induced Leon Wagner to hit into a double play.

McBride pitched two more innings, allowing one hit, before leaving for pinchhitter Willie Smith in the 12th. Smith's single started the winning rally.

The season for McBride has been one of utter frustration. He won 13 games and lost 12 for the Angels last year and had a 3.26 earned-run average.

Elsewhere in the league, Baltimore defeated Chicago 3-1, New York whipped Boston 8-4 and Minnesota downed Detroit 4-2.

After singling for McBride, Smith was forced at second by Tom Satriano. Ed Kirkpatrick's single and an intentional walk to Jim Fregosi moved Satriano to third from where he scored on Lou Clinton's sacrifice fly. Dean Chance started for the Angels and ran his scoreless inning string to 28 before Bob Chance singled home two runs for the Indians in the sixth.

Dick Howser's two-run single tied it in the ninth. Joe Adcock and Felix Torres each drove in two runs for Los Angeles.

A two-run homer by Brooks Robinson in the eighth carried the Orioles past the White Sox. The blow off Hoyt Wilhelm broke a 1-1 tie. Luis Aparicio homered for Baltimore in the sixth. Tom McCraw got Chicago off to a 1-0 lead in the first with a homer off Milt Pappas.

Mickey Mantle slammed two home runs and Roger Maris connected with one on in the fifth, then slugged his 10th homer with the bases empty in the seventh. Maris' 10th came in the third. All of the blows were off starter Bill Monbouquette.

Ed Bressoud and Felix Mantilla homered against Jim Bouton, who won his fourth game in nine decisions. Bouton doubled and scored in the fifth and belted a two-run single in the eighth.

Dick Stigman and reliever Garland Shifflett stopped Detroit on three hits as Earl Battey knocked across three runs. Shifflett pitched the ninth after Stigman walked leadoff batter Al Kaline. Bill Freehan and Don Demeter tagged Stigman for home runs in the fifth.

Battey slashed a run-scoring double in the third and smashed a two-run homer in the fourth.

Tigers Lose Pop Up Tilt

DETROIT (AP)—"We had a pop up contest," said Detroit outfielder George Thomas after the Tigers 4-2 loss to the Minnesota Twins Thursday.

The Tigers hit only four balls on the ground. One was a lead off bunt single by Thomas in the eighth inning. Besides home runs by Bill Freehan and Don Demeter in the fifth, it constituted the only other Tiger rumble against Minnesota's Dick Stigman.

Most everything Stigman threw the Tigers hit in the air as they made a strong bid to tie an obscure major league record: a no-assist game.

Until relief pitcher Garland Shifflett tossed out Norm Cash for the second out in the ninth inning, there was no occasion for a Minnesota assist.

Tiger manager Charlie Dressen wasn't interested in the only no-assist game in major league history. Cleveland did it against New York on July 4, 1945.

He was thinking about Jake Wood pinch-hitting for Detroit starter Ed Rakow in the eighth.

Bob Allison walked to precede Battey's double in the second and was on base via a walk when Battey homered in the fourth.

Rakow then settled down, allowing three singles through the eighth. Terry Fox pitched the ninth and gave up one hit.

Rakow was wild at the start, said Dressen. "But he sharpened up as he went along. I'll start him again. He's the kind that needs lots of work to stay sharp."

The Tigers open a four-game series with the Los Angeles Angels tonight. Dressen will start Hank Aguirre (1-2). Barry Latman (2-4) will pitch for the Angels.

MISSOURI was the only school to put two men on the first team—third baseman Davey Harvey and pitcher Keith Weber. Weber had a 10-1 record and a 0.66 earned run average.

Nothing drastic," he replied. "I intend to put the nine best men available on the field."

McGaha, whose rookie season as a major league manager was in Cleveland in 1962, said he may use starters as relievers. He did that as Cleveland manager and was criticized for it.

Lopat, a coach for the A's in 1962, took over as manager on the last day of the season when Hank Bauer stepped down. Last season the club had a 73-89 record. So far this season it is 17-35.

Lopat, whose contract runs through the 1965 season, said he did not plan to accept an offer to work with the young pitchers on the club.

With the Escanaba Jaycee Little League facing its third week of championship action, the race tightened considerably Thursday night when the Credit Union defeated league leading Lions 7-0.

The Lions and Rotary, last week's leaders, each lost a game this week while VFW and Credit Union swept a pair to throw the race into a three way tie for first place. The winner of tonight's Eagle-Kiwanis game will move within one game of the leaders.

With the closing of schools, Escanaba's small fry baseball program moves into high gear. The major Jayces Little League begins its first nine-game week's schedule Saturday.

Starting Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Little League diamond, the Triple A league opens action under the direction of Lloyd Strahl, former Lion Little League manager.

At the newly developed Minor League field at the Lemmer School, the Minor League program under the direction of Earl Dumais was flooded with candidates as managers processed 107 boys Thursday. Teams will practice the coming week.

The Escanaba City Recreation Department baseball program will begin registration next week and leagues will open action on June 22. This program is designed to handle all overflow candidates from other programs.

Ore Centennial Celebration To Honor C&NW RR

ESCANABA, Mich. — One hundred years of iron ore handling by the Port of Escanaba will be memorialized here on Saturday, July 11 when the City of Escanaba honors the Chicago & North Western Railway which started the service in 1864 when Abraham Lincoln was president and the iron went to arm the Union Army fighting the Confederacy.

Board Chairman Ben W. Heineman and President Clyde J. Fitzpatrick, of the C&NW will come to Escanaba for a parade on Saturday afternoon that will depict highlights of the century of ore haul and for a public dinner in the evening at the new Escanaba Area High School.

The first ore from the Marquette Range was moved to Lake Michigan for shipment by the Peninsula Rail Road, which was constructed in 1863 and '64 from Negaunee to Escanaba. The road was owned by the North Western, which did not finish building its main line tracks northward from Chicago to Escanaba to join its Peninsula Road until 1872, long after the war was over.

Escanaba has been the only ore port on Lake Michigan and it has moved an estimated 340 million tons of iron ore since the first little cargoes went into sailing vessels here in '64. The port, which has had as many as six docks operating, has only one today, but is moving more over it than ever before except in the peak periods of World War I in 1916 and in 1951.

The all-time peak of ore shipment, says Lee McMillan, C&NW dock agent, was in 1916 when C&NW docks Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 6 moved 5,349,605 tons and the Milwaukee Road's docks Nos. 1 and 2 moved 2,109,248 for a total of 7,458,853 tons. That mark has never been topped.

Nearest approach to the all time record was in 1951 when 6,544,259 tons were moved over two C&NW docks. The Milwaukee Road and the North Western pooled their ore haul to Escanaba in 1937 and have operated it jointly since, each taking its proportion of the business at the time of pooling.

Cuban Soldier Shooting By U.S. Sentries Denied

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa says his country will take "fitting" measures against attacks on Cuban soldiers by U.S. guards at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The government Thursday night made public Roa's protest over the alleged wounding of a Cuban soldier by U.S. sentries at Guantanamo Tuesday night. The U.S. Defense Department has denied the charge and suggested the Cuban may have been shot by Fidel Castro's own troops hunting rebels.

Four Detroit Boys Stabbed

DETROIT (AP)—Three teen-aged youths today were in serious condition from stab wounds suffered in a brawl at a high school graduation party. Four persons, including a 46-year-old man, were held for investigation.

James Logsdon, 19, was stabbed in the stomach with a broken beer bottle; Kenneth Sheedy, 17, with a knife in the lower back; and David Kramer, 17, in the chest with a knife.

A 16-year-old boy among the four held suffered a minor arm laceration and also was hospitalized.

Police said the fight started when a party, given for a girl graduate of St. Gabriel High School, broke up about 1 a.m. They said several youths from another school who had tried to crash the party earlier were waiting outside in a car, accompanied by 46-year-old Austin Loftus.

Police said witnesses told them Logsdon was stabbed by Loftus as he approached the car and asked what he wanted. Sheedy and Kramer, according to witnesses, were stabbed when they went to Logsdon's aid.

Thunder Bay Recreation To Open Saturday

MARQUETTE — Residents and tourists within the area will have an opportunity, starting Saturday, to see both the Harlow Lake and Big Bay developments on the new scenic all-steam railroad, the Marquette & Huron Mountain line, initiated by Thunder Bay Recreations, Inc.

At Harlow Lake there will be horseback riding, a guided trail ride to Sugar Loaf and opportunities for boating and fishing on Harlow Lake and adjacent streams.

At Big Bay there will be stagecoaches, old carriages and pony rides for the youngsters.

Flood Menaces Shelby, Mont.

HELENA, Mont. (AP)— New flooding was a threat in Montana today.

Residents of Shelby, near the Canadian border, worked through the night sandbagging two large farm reservoirs.

Dams threatened to go out at the third and lowest dam in the reservoir chain did Thursday afternoon, flooding an area including about 300 Shelby homes. There were no injuries.

In southern Montana the Jefferson River, one of three major tributaries of the Missouri, was flooding its lowlands and had torn out at least one bridge.

At least 30 people died and others still were missing after three days of flooding earlier this week.

Governor Aims To Be Nominee Of Republicans

strong platform along lines of the 1960 platform.

He had no immediate comment on Scranton's plans.

Such a Scranton announcement would be a reversal of his long-stated position that he was not seeking the nomination, but would accept a "sincere and honest draft." Last Sunday Scranton modified his draft statement slightly to say he would be available for the nomination if a majority of the convention delegates wanted him.

The Scranton action capped a week of activity that began last Saturday when Scranton met with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Gettysburg. Eisenhower urged Scranton to make himself "more available" for the nomination.

Scranton flew to Cleveland Sunday morning for the Governors' Conference prepared to announce he would welcome support from GOP moderates. He did not intend, however, to campaign. Then shortly after his arrival, Scranton received a telephone call from Eisenhower who, disturbed by press reports, said he did not want it to appear that Scranton had been tapped by Eisenhower for the nomination or that he was part of any "stop Goldwater" movement.

Back In Picture

Visibly shaken, Scranton went on television and reiterated his previous position. This was the opposite of what had been expected.

Without the expected rallying point, Scranton backers, Goldwater opponents and nonaligned GOP forces broke into confusion.

Eisenhower was back in the picture Thursday. He told The Associated Press he wanted a wide-open Republican National Convention to stir the party's and nation's interest.

He disavowed a role of either pulling strings for—or cutting the ground from under —Scranton.

At stake in the Maryland convention are 20 delegate votes to the San Francisco convention. It was reported in Baltimore that Goldwater's total commitment ranged from 4 to 10.

Scranton is chairman of the 64-vote Pennsylvania delegation. All but three are committed to support him. The other three have indicated they favor Goldwater.

SURE OF 80

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had at least 80 of New York's 92 delegates to the Republican National Convention securely committed today to his fight for the presidential nomination and a "moderate, forward-looking platform."

GOP State Chairman Fred A. Young predicted the total would be at least 85 by the time the convention opens in San Francisco July 13.

The delegation gave Rockefeller its support at a meeting here Thursday and the governor responded by pledging to carry his fight "all the way." Before the meeting, Rockefeller had informal commitment from home state delegates, but his campaign strategists decided a formal endorsement would strengthen his hand against Sen. Barry Goldwater, front-running candidate for the nomination.

Of the 78 delegates and 45 alternates who attended the meeting, only one vote was cast against the endorsement resolution—by Vincent J. Walsh of Garden City, a supporter of Goldwater.

The voting assured Rockefeller of 77 votes. But he also was certain of the backing of three absentees—U.S. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating and U.S. Rep. John Lindsay.

Strikers Deny Setting Fire At Gas Co. Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Two Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. strikers pleaded innocent Thursday to arson charges.

The two, Michael Reno, 46, of Detroit, and Robert McCracken, 33, of Roseville, are charged with setting fire to the rubber tires of a company crane. They were freed in $500 bond for examination June 30.

More than 2,000 members of the Building Service Workers Union went on strike in the Michigan Consolidated Detroit area Sunday in a contract terms dispute.

The company said employees in the Muskegon area represented by the International Chemical Workers Union accepted a new two-year agreement Thursday identical with a proposal rejected by Detroit strikers.

The company said the proposal was the equivalent of a 23.17 cents an hour pay increase for the two years. Present rates were not made public.

Ore Centennial Sale Is Good

"The State is recognizing the fact that tourism is Michigan's No. 3 industry," Walter G. Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce told board members Thursday. Lewke attended the Governor's Conference on Tourism held at Lansing last week. Vice President John J. Mitchell presided in the absence of President John Anthony, who is a patient at St. Francis Hospital.

Governor Romney said he felt that operators should be allowed to have point-of-sale signs in front of their business places. The Governor indicated that he would endeavor to get a united front on a stand for point-of-sale signs at the Governors Conference in Cleveland this week, said Lewke. The Chamber wired the Governor expressing appreciation for his support on the signs. Walter O'Brien is chairman of the Chamber's Tourism Committee.

The Board also heard a report by the National Affairs Committee on its urging members of the Chamber to write to Congressmen requesting opposition to mass transit bill S.6 which would subsidize transportation in major metropolitan areas of the country. Frank Kaim is chairman of the National Affairs Committee.

Excellent response to the sale of tickets for the C&NW recognition and ore centennial banquet on Saturday, July 11, was reported by members of the Senior Citizens Committee, said Lewke. The committee has also agreed to take charge of courtesy cars for the event, which is sponsored by the Chamber, the City of Escanaba and the Delta County Historical Society. Arthur V. Aronson has accepted chairmanship of the courtesy car committee. John J. Bartella heads the Senior Citizens Committee.
